III. JOB SEARCH ACTIVITIES

Subsequent to her separation from employment with Mitsubishi, Ms. Fischman sought employment in a similar capacity.<sup>12</sup> A detailed list of Ms. Fischman's activities to find employment is shown in Attachment 1. A count of Ms. Fischman's activities to find employment per month since her separation is set forth in Table A below:

Table A: Fischman Documented Job Search Activities
Month/Year	Activities<sup>13</sup>
February 2017 <sup>14</sup>	17

July 2017	2
August 2017	7
September 2017	15
October 2017	7
November 2017	6
December 2017	7
January 2018	8
February 2018	0
March 2018	2
April 2018	5
May 2018	4
Total	106
Per week (to 5/6/18)<sup>15</sup>	1.61
Per week (to 10/23/20)<sup>16</sup>	0.55

Based on the data above, Ms. Fischman made a total of 106 job search activities between January 30, 2017 and May 6, 2018, approximately 1.61 job search efforts per week. Assuming an ongoing search from January 30, 2017 to the current date, Ms. Fischman averaged 0.54 job search activities per week. Ms. Fischman's documented job search activities predominately consisted of online employment applications. Ms. Fischman's documented job search activities also tended to be clustered, with several activities on a particular day and little to no documented activities in between.<sup>17</sup>

<sup>13</sup> "Activities" include but are not limited to applications to positions at companies, applications to search firms for positions at companies, and contacts from search firms regarding opportunities. The New York Department of Labor identifies nine work search activities deemed appropriate in furtherance of securing employment (<https://labor.ny.gov/ui/claimantinfo/work-search.shtm#4>)

<sup>15</sup> There are approximately 66 weeks between January 30, 2017 and May 6, 2018

<sup>16</sup> There are approximately 198 weeks between January 30, 2017 and November 13, 2020

<sup>17</sup> See Attachment 1; For example, Ms. Fischman documented six job search activities on February 13, 2017, one on February 15, 2017, then eight between February 27 and March 1, 2017.

IV. ELEMENTS OF A REASONABLE AND DILIGENT JOB SEARCH

As a proxy for the minimum weekly effort a job seeker must put forth to obtain employment following a separation, we examined the job search requirements for the New York Department of Labor. To continue to receive unemployment benefits in New York, the unemployment recipient must—at a minimum—perform three work search activities per week.<sup>18</sup> This requirement provides a minimum standard for the number of potential employment contacts a person should make when making a reasonable effort to seek reemployment.

Had Ms. Fischman met the minimum standard in New York, we would expect a minimum of 594 documented job search activities since her separation.<sup>19</sup> Based on the data shown in Table A, indicating 106 job search activities, Ms. Fischman has not provided sufficient evidence that she met the minimum standard established by the New York Department of Labor.

According to recent articles, for an individual who is not working a reasonable target for the amount of time to spend when searching for a full-time job is anywhere from 25 to 40 hours per week.<sup>20</sup> The articles also indicate that necessary activities in finding employment include searching for opportunities, composing and refining resumes and cover letters, traveling to and participating in interviews, and networking. As noted earlier, Ms. Fischman's efforts appeared to be clustered on certain days, and ceased entirely as of early May 2018. Additionally, Ms. Fischman appeared to utilize LinkedIn nearly exclusively to search for potential opportunities, with little to no utilization of other online job repositories, headhunters, academic institutions career placement departments, or other methods to search for potential employment opportunities. Therefore, Ms. Fischman's record of job search efforts indicates that she has fallen far short of the suggested level of job search effort for an unemployed individual seeking reemployment.

<sup>19</sup> There are approximately 198 weeks between January 30, 2017 and April 23, 2020. 198 weeks times 3 activities per week equals 594 activities.

Position listings were scanned for text strings to eliminate employment opportunities for which Ms. Fischman may not be qualified, such as positions requiring specialized skill, training or experience in litigation, finance, pharmaceuticals, real estate, and positions requiring extensive travel.

After scanning the 6,409 for the text string “LITIGATION”, 2,408 listings were eliminated, leaving 4,001 listings. After scanning the remaining 4,001 listings for the text string “FINANC<sup>26</sup>”, 1,799 more listings were eliminated, leaving 2,200 listings. After scanning the remaining 2,200 listings for the text string “FUND”, 291 additional listings were eliminated, leaving 1,909 listings. Additional scans were conducted on text strings “EQUITY”, “INVEST<sup>27</sup>”, “BANK”, “TRANSACTION<sup>28</sup>”, “PHARMA<sup>29</sup>”, and “REAL ESTATE”. The remaining listings were reviewed for positions requiring specialized experience, international relocation, or extensive travel, and then duplicate listings were removed. ## VII. ANALYSIS

As discussed in Section III, Ms. Fischman had a total of 106 job search activities between January 30, 2017 and May 6, 2018, approximately 1.61 job search activities per week. Assuming an ongoing search from January 30, 2017 to the current date, Ms. Fischman averaged 0.54 job search activities per week. Ms. Fischman’s documented job search activities predominately consisted of online employment applications. As discussed in Section IV, in order to maintain eligibility for receipt of unemployment benefits in New York, the recipient must—at a minimum—conduct three job search activities per week. Had Ms. Fischman met this minimum standard since her separation, she would have conducted a minimum of 594 job search activities since the separation. Her documented activities are approximately 21% of the minimum standard. As shown in Tables C and E, 6,409 broadly classified potential employment opportunities, and 551 refined potential employment opportunities, existed between February 2017 and April 2020.

Based on Ms. Fischman’s documented job search activities compared to a minimum standard of job search activities, and the continuing availability of numerous General Counsel and Corporate Counsel opportunities, Ms. Fischman has not made a reasonable effort to find comparable employment subsequent to her separation from Mitsubishi. Therefore, Ms. Fischman did not put forth a reasonable effort to mitigate her losses following this separation.

As shown in Table B, the median duration of unemployment for categories applicable to Ms. Fischman ranged from 9.6 to 17.0 weeks in January 2017, while the mean duration ranged from 23.7 to 36.6 weeks. Further, the percentage of workers with duration of unemployment less than 27 weeks ranged from 60.8% to 67.7% in January 2017. In our opinion, had Ms. Fischman conducted a reasonable job search subsequent to her separation from Mitsubishi, she should have found full-time employment within a period ranging from six to at most nine months.

Last, Ms. Fischman alleges that Mitsubishi “willfully refused to provide...positive employment references” on her behalf, and also alleges that this “effectively destroy[ed] her legal career.”<sup>31</sup> It is our understanding that this cause of action was dismissed.<sup>32</sup> Furthermore, it is our understanding that the filing of the present lawsuit is a public record. According to Ms. Fischman's resume, she has been a licensed attorney since 1996, and has worked for five employers subsequent to becoming a licensed attorney. Should Ms. Fischman prevail on her claim of wrongful termination, there would be no reason to suggest an ongoing or permanent loss of earnings or earning capacity, or an inability to function as an attorney in the labor market.

VIII. SUMMARY

As discussed above, based on our review of Ms. Fischman's documented job search efforts subsequent to her separation from Mitsubishi, the potential job opportunities available at the time and at present, and the relevant labor market data related to the mean and median duration of unemployment, Ms. Fischman did not conduct a reasonable or diligent job search and thus did not put forth a reasonable effort to mitigate her losses following the separation from employment with Mitsubishi. Department: Legal Who We Are The Vera Institute of Justice, founded in 1961, envisions a society that respects the dignity of every person and safeguards justice for everyone. - We study problems that impede human dignity and justice. - We pilot solutions that are at once transformative and achievable. - We engage diverse communities in informed debate. - We harness the power of evidence to drive effective policy and practice. Vera is independent and nonpartisan, with staff who combine expertise in research, technical assistance, and demonstration projects to improve the systems people rely on for justice and safety. We have offices in New York City; Washington, D.C.; Los Angeles; and New Orleans. Vera's Legal Department provides comprehensive in-house legal services to the organization, including each of its administrative departments, centers, programs, and demonstration projects, and to its Board of Trustees. Vera seeks an attorney to join the Legal Department on a full-time basis, with a primary focus on the management, review, and drafting of contracts. The Position This position will be based in Vera's New York office. The attorney will report to the General Counsel and will work with the entire Legal Department to provide legal advice and assistance to Vera's Board and staff. This attorney will primarily focus on reviewing, drafting, and negotiating contracts, and developing policies and practices where necessitated by contract. Above and beyond these duties, a strong component of the position will also be working with the General Counsel to continue modernizing the contracting process to better serve the organization. The entire Legal Department pitches in on the contracting load, which runs a wide gamut in terms of the form and complexity of agreements, so the attorney will have the opportunity to work with everyone in the department (and over time, most parts of the organization). Key tasks will include researching legal issues, ensuring compliance with legal requirements for nonprofits, and reviewing and writing contracts. About You You understand the opportunity each contract presents to protect, clarify, and further important work, and have enough of a nerdy streak to be excited about it. You have two years or more of relevant experience (whether at another not-for-profit, a law firm, or elsewhere) and are creative, practical, and skilled. You are interested in how not-for-profits work, and you want to use your talents—which include artful drafting and horse sense—for a great cause. Vera works to automate as many contractual processes as possible, so you will be adept with technology and enjoy the creative challenge of improving operations. Strong writing, oral communication, interpersonal, and organizational skills are a must. Vera is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will be considered for employment without unlawful discrimination based on race, color, creed, national origin, sex, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, military status, prior record of arrest or conviction, citizenship status, or current employment status. Vera works to advance justice, particularly racial justice, in an increasingly multicultural country and globally connected world. We value diverse experiences, including with regard to educational background and justice system contact, and depend on a diverse staff to carry out our mission. For more information about Vera, please visit www.vera.org. Benefits We want to be an employer of choice in our field, and supporting Vera staff—both personally and professionally—is a priority. To do this, we provide: - Regular reviews of our salary structure to ensure that we are at or above market rate - Training and learning opportunities with leaders in our field - Eight weeks paid family leave and other generous time off benefits - Comprehensive insurance coverage, including medical and dental, life and accidental death, and disability - A retirement savings plan, including employer contributions and the opportunity for your own tax-advantaged savings - Tuition reimbursement and publication incentives Professional Level None specified Minimum Education Required J.D.
